

The fascinating world of cleanrooms

From laminar flow systems to sterile wipes

Equipping cleanrooms does not only require complex products such as laminar flow systems. It also requires specially designed furnishings, clothing, and consumables. Basan specialises in the products and services needed in and around cleanrooms.

Basan has achieved an advanced position in cleanrooms through an intensive and worldwide search for suitable products and also co-operated with various Institutions. As European market leader, basan offers experienced advice, high quality products, reliable deliveries and also tailored solutions for the demanding requirements in production areas needing a specially clean environment. .

Sterile wipes are just one product category of over 2,500 products. They are used to clean and disinfect surfaces in sterile areas in cleanroom categories A/B

The wipes are made from polyester or from a polyester/cellulose mix. They have sealed edges to minimise particle emission, are highly absorbent and solvent resistant. With fewer than 20 endotoxin units per wipe, they are within the legally acceptable limits of the US Pharmacopeia 23.

The wipes are gamma ray sterilised and supplied in cleanroom packing. Each pack is visually certified as sterilised.

Sterile wipes are reliable for cleaning and disinfecting cleanrooms.
